The present work is interesting and shows new features. Upon going through the manuscript, I noticed the following points.

1- The abstract needs to be more specific and include only the significant results.

2-Introduction: The authors have to stress the novelty in the presented work.

3-Results: What makes the compressive strength and flexural strength of the blend containing higher PP content the greatest?

4-The testing temperature is important in evaluating the mechanical performance of the blend, but that is missed in the data!

5- The discussion of the mechanical tests only described the results and didn't make any explanation in regard to the improvements. The data needs to be discussed in terms of interfacial bonding and microstructural changes in the blend.
