

Review of: "Motivational Variables as Predictors of Academic Achievement Among University Students"

Georgia Stavropoulou¹

¹ Aristotle University of Thessaloniki

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article entitled "Motivational Variables as Predictors of Academic Achievement Among University Students" is an interesting effort, which presents a clear and thorough objective.

The literature review is well documented. However, more recent references could be added to strengthen the article.

In the methodology section, there is not enough information for the selection of multiple linear regression. Please provide more information about the reason you selected this specific analysis.

The results should include, apart from means, standard deviations.

The discussion should not include results.

Overall, the article has a lot of strengths, and by correcting the minor issues identified, it has the potential to make a more impactful contribution to the field.