This is rich and nuanced article that examines the impact of agro-extractivism on Ecosystem Services. A few concerns emerging from my reading of the article: "I claim that ..." Claims are normally not supported by research and therefore is not fit for academic language. "I argue..." is much more robust and assertive. I also feel that the definition of Ecosystem Services is not clear. Would it be possible if examples are provided for illustration purposes? I also suggest that you rephrase this sentence "The expansion of Hass avocado plantations in Colombia can be understood due to various factors and policies..."
