Posterior Cardinal Vein

National Cancer Institute

Source

Either of two veins occurring during embryonic development on both sides of the abdomen that drain the lower portion of the fetus into the common cardinal vein.