Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

1. The authors should be clear on what the paper seeks to achieve. It is only partially captured at "The world view of Digital transformation of Public Libraries"
2. The purpose could be teased out and clearly stated or expressed in the form of research questions. The conclusions could then be drawn based on the purpose or the research questions. As it is now, the conclusions are hanging.
3. Be clear on which methodological approach was used - systematic, semi-systematic, integrative or a combination of some and why it is appropriate.
4. Could the author clarify the type of reference style been used.
