

Review of: "Assessment of soil erosion in the Cesar watershed, an initial step toward the restoration of the Cesar River"

Giandomenico Foti¹

¹ University of Reggio Calabria

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The manuscript deals with an interesting topic.

However, some revisions are needed before publication.

In detail:

- in Paragraph II.A Study Area there is a lack of quantitative information on the climatic and rainfall regimes and on the land use of the study area
- a flow chart of the methodology adopted could be useful to improve its readability
- paragraph III. Results and Discussion should be divided into two paragraphs