

Review of: "Power of musical sound and its impact on the psyche: an Indic perspective"

Luciana Fagundes

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The theme of the article is original and well developed. However, it would be interesting to insert other connections with works of scholars in the field of neuroscience and psychology, such as Daniel Levitin. Perhaps in future writings, it would be interesting to write a bibliographic review of this literature.