

Review of: "Adolescents' Knowledge of Sexuality in a School Context: A Descriptive Study"

Mokhtarrudin Ahmad¹

¹ Multimedia University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper presents a wonderful exploration of its subject matter, offering insightful analysis and clear articulation of ideas. The depth of research and the coherence of argumentation are commendable. However, to enhance its theoretical framework, integrating the Knowledge, Attitudes, and Practices (KAP) Model into the literature review would provide a richer understanding of the factors influencing behavior in the context discussed. Incorporating KAP would not only strengthen the theoretical underpinning but also offer a comprehensive perspective on the subject matter. This addition would elevate the paper's scholarly contribution and further enhance its value to the academic community.