This is a really good paper with informative content. I propose following minor adjustments..

In introduction section, sentence three needs a reference.

In Discussion section, Biological amplification definition needs a reference

In Evidence of hormeosis section, first paragraph, do we know any molecular mechanisms involved in this? If so include them with references

Do we have numerical data surveys supporting your discussion other than facts? If so, please include them as well.

2.5 section also could use and mechanisms involve with these drugs. Including diagrams is enough.

Good luck!
