

Review of: "The Effect of Group-Based Family Orientation to Community Mental Health Services"

Xinyuan Wang<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Beijing Jiaotong University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Thanks for your invitation to review this interesting paper. Overall, I think this is an interesting study. I have the following comments:

1. Abstract: The introduction in Abstract does makes me understand the background and importance of this study. Therefore, I suggest that you should refine this part.
2. Introduction: The introduction is too short. For example, I think you also should explain the background and importance in the first paragraph of Introduction. Now, the content in the first paragraph of Introduction is somewhat monotonous and abrupt.
3. IGS should be described in more detail in the paper.