

Review of: "The Key to Academic Equity: A Detailed Review of EdChat's Strategies"

Tae Sul Seo¹

¹ Korea Institute of Science and Technology Information (KISTI)

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

EdChat is considered a new academic communication tool to solve the paywall problems and content intricacies of existing academic journals.

However, preprints and OA (especially diamond OA) journals are already in progress to solve the paywall problem, and things like article infographics and video abstracts are being attempted to make the contents of academic journal articles easier to understand.

Therefore, the author must demonstrate how EdChat improves over the existing methods.