

Review of: "Armed Conflicts in Africa and Environmental Intelligence for Sustainability"

Angela Gimenez Barrera

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This is a quite comprehensive analysis of the relation between environment, conflict, and effects in terms of UN SDGs, broadly speaking. I believe examples need to be better landed to make clear connections between theory and practice, actors involved/needed, and processes/interventions. I recommend avoiding could/should jargon and speaking about how what happened specifically in time and space affects the present and, in moving forward. I enjoyed reading the article as it provides a useful perspective to situate the reader into a common understanding of armed conflicts in Africa and EIS. I recommend better referencing claims in the text and updating the information with more actual data and analysis. Congratulations!