The manuscript mentions a fairly common problem in Mexico, which is: "Territorial limits", which generate problems at the state, municipal, local levels, among others. Below are some suggestions that could help raise the quality of the manuscript:

- 1.- Although the author mentions in the section on "the spatial phenomenon" that the work is of a spatial nature, it is far from being so because the methodology used is not explained in detail, what were the steps to follow to give it answer to important questions of spatial analysis such as what?, where?, why? and When?, it is not mentioned how the treatment was given to the variables used, and above all there is no explanation of the method used to "draw" the critical polygons, likewise the question arises: What were the levels? or ranges that were considered for each of the variables to consider them critical or deserted?
- 2.- it is necessary to revise the manuscript because there are too many words that are misspelled
- 3.- it is necessary to restructure the document, to clearly define each of its parts, for example, knowing where the methodology begins and ends.
- 4.- it is necessary to review the cited literature because there is bibliography that does not appear in the body of the document and vice versa
- 5.- Likewise, a single format must be used for the citation.
