The references used are not updated. Add updated literature from the years 2021 to 2024.

Also, add updated gaps to support the reason to conduct this research. Why there is a need to conduct the study and how this study is eliminating the existing gaps.

Write the overall research in the present tense.

The introduction section needs to be improved as it is only talking about malnutrition and health and is not reflecting its relationship with academic performance. How it is affecting academic performance, what has already been done in previous research, and what is lacking which leads the researchers to conduct further research.

In the last sentences of the introduction, "Nutritional status of a child is affected by socioeconomic factors such as poor education level of parents, low income, and poor households," you have shown the inverse relation. Is this the objective of this study? Also, references are not added here.

Why was Faisalabad chosen as the target market?

The discussion section needs to be rewritten. Also, add updated references. Discuss whether past studies are consistent with the findings of your research study or different. How this study is different from previous studies?

What are the theoretical and practical implications/contributions of the study?

Add a limitations and future recommendations section.
