

Review of: "Determinants of Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs) Sustainable Development in Africa"

Diana Karen Garcia¹

¹ Tec de Monterrey

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The topic of the article is very interesting because it focuses on the factors that contribute to a sustainable development of MSMEs in Africa. However, the conclusions and findings of the study are very general. The authors need to develop a deeper discussion of the impact of the results and the implications that they will have in the sustainable development in Africa.