Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Interesting work that introduces a new methodology to assess water safety management in Hanoi, from an interdisciplinary perspective. Being extensible to other realities, it is a significant contribution to the research objective.

Some suggestions for improvement:

- (a) Introduce the main results in the abstract.
- (b) Change the structure of the paper, using the usual research paper structures: introduction, methodology, results, discussion, and conclusions.
- (c) Improve the methodology, especially section 2.3.3, which generates confusion.
- (d) The conclusions and discussion should be expanded, and, above all, the results should be compared with previous studies.
