Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper studies the impact of pandemic and recent Russia-Ukraine conflict on bitcoin and energy.

The idea is not new, the methodology used is very standard, and the paper is not well-structured.

- 1). First, I do not understand why sections 1, and 2 have the same title, namely, Introduction. Please check.
- 2). The authors should clearly state the originality/novelty of their paper and its contribution to the literature.
- 3). I would suggest the authors to provide robustness test of their results.
- 4). The authors review some papers (not all related with their study, although the literature is large), but they do not criticize them. As a result, their own contribution - if any - is very limited and not recognized.
