There are several grammatical mistakes; I recommend revising the whole work for grammatical errors and that the author should collaborate with other researchers in the same field to enhance the quality of the research. I also recommend rephrasing some poor sentences in the abstract and introduction sections.

I recommend including the significance of the work in the introduction section clearly. Also, revise the poor sentences of the introduction section for the readers. I also think the author has not shown the uniqueness of this research.

Lastly, I recommend that the paper should be accepted after effecting the necessary minor corrections.
