Choice and Control

National Cancer Institute

Source

In pediatrics (and some adult care), providing choices of treatment modalities, times of treatment, and other aspects of care within limits to give the patient a feeling of control and decreases feelings of helplessness associated with the treatment or care.