Dear Author,

Congratulations for bring out such an insightful article on Life Expectancy at Birth.

Herein below are few points that I feel could optimize the scientific message from your publication:

Abstract:

- Kindly mention exact source of data with year of data collection / publication.
- Discuss key findings from your analysis, including urban-rural comparison.
- Highlight States/UTs leading and lagging in ELB

Methodology:

- Provide reference for the data source and brief description of method of data collection etc.
- Provide brief description on how the review plans to discuss the findings in result section

Discussion:

- The discussion segment effectively elaborates on the disparities among states/UTs, providing insights into the states with the highest and lowest ELB figures.
- Cite references to support the recommendations, where available.

Overall Review:

- The manuscript offers valuable insights into ELB disparities in India, presenting a well-structured and informative analysis.
- Further, elaboration on the statistical methodologies used, clearer representation of data trends, and inclusion of specific numerical findings would strengthen the manuscript's scholarly impact.
