

Review of: "[Case Report] Supplementation with Vitamin D, Zinc, and Quercetin to Treat COVID-19: A Case Report"

Marcelo Pinheiro ¹

¹ Centro Universitário de Várzea Grande

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The association of vitamin D, zinc and quercetin has an interesting therapeutic rationale, the article is well written, has good discussion, however, the temporal relationship in the improvement of symptoms may have occurred due to the natural evolution of COVID-19. I recommend that the author publish a series of cases with this association. This way, the strength of the evidences may be more robust for this association.