

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Inductively-Coupled Plasma Mass Spectrometry

National Cancer Institute

Source

National Cancer Institute. Inductively-Coupled Plasma Mass Spectrometry. NCI Thesaurus. Code C62328.

A mass spectrometry technique that uses inductively-coupled plasma generated from argon gas to atomize and ionize a sample. The resulting ions are separated and analyzed using a mass spectrometer.