

Review of: "Increased Protein and Transcript Expression Levels of Lysine-Specific Demethylase 1 (LSD1) Signify Worse Prognosis in Triple-Negative Breast Cancer"

R.A. Ramadan<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Alexandria University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Interesting article with well-constructed study and sound methodology and statistical analysis.

Authors should denote the percentage of different ethnicities in the studied cohort.

Add the references denoted in the last paragraph of the discussion.