

Review of: "“A totally new situation that put us into uncharted waters”: Preschool teachers negotiate their professional identity in respect to online learning during the Covid-19 lockdowns in Greece."

Hoa Anh Tuong¹

¹ Saigon University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Abstract

The authors should be needed to add some information to the findings.

1.1. Introduction

The authors write clearly, and the context of the paper is reasonable.

2.1. Method

The authors write clearly.

3.1. Findings

Research results are new and presented carefully with reasonable evidence.

3.2. Forming new communities of practice

There are interesting new points, and it is suitable for practice

adding a comment

3.2.1. With the families

Authors should be clear on how to establish the relationship between the families

4.1. Discussion

Reasonable.

The authors point out limitations as well as their research that could be further developed.

adding a comment

4.1.2. Implications for policy

The authors should be clear: “There was, indeed, no mention of any kind of help, training or guidance at an administrative and institutional level”.