The introduction is impressive, connecting only a few quotes. Make a sentence that gives the impression of simply continuing the quote.

In deriving the research model, it is necessary to explain the selection of variables that are independent variables. In this paper, the use of independent variables is not yet supported by theory.

This article just explains the results of econometric data processing.

It has not explained the importance of the relationship and the meaning of the results of the economic analysis. Therefore, it is necessary to add an economic discussion between the variables studied.
