

Review of: "The Political Ecologies of the Tonle Sap: Global, Regional and National Framework for Conservation and Development"

Wael F. Galal<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Assiut University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Here are four points the authors could consider enhancing the article:

1. Provide more context: While the article provides a lot of information about the Tonle Sap, it could benefit from more context about the region and its history. This would help readers better understand the significance of the lake and the challenges it faces.
2. Use more visuals: The article is quite text-heavy, and could benefit from more visuals such as maps, diagrams, and photos. This would help readers better visualize the information being presented and make the article more engaging.
3. Provide more specific recommendations: While the article discusses some potential solutions to the challenges facing the Tonle Sap, it could benefit from more specific recommendations for policymakers and stakeholders. This would help readers better understand what actions need to be taken to address the issues.
4. Include more diverse perspectives: While the article provides a lot of valuable insights, it could benefit from more diverse perspectives, particularly from local communities and indigenous groups. This would help readers better understand the social and cultural dimensions of the issues facing the Tonle Sap.