

Review of: "Improving agriculture and food security in Africa: Can the one health approach be the answer?"

Jaehyun Ahn¹

¹ Texas A&M University - College Station

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The manuscript has a long introduction, i.e., about nine pages. It is lengthy and does not contain research questions and hypotheses. What do the authors want to accomplish, answer, and argue about one health approach? If they want to prove one health approach/initiative works in sub-Saharan African food security, they should have a proper method(s) with data.

Table 1 bisects pages eight and nine. The last row on page eight needs to be clarified. If Figure 2 is one of the findings, it is too broad. Remember, research is all about specifics, narrowly focused.

Because of the missing information above, the conclusion appears too broad. Neither context nor results connect to the conclusion.