

Review of: "Increased Protein and Transcript Expression Levels of Lysine-Specific Demethylase 1 (LSD1) Signify Worse Prognosis in Triple-Negative Breast Cancer"

Majid M. Mahmood<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> University of Mustansiriyah

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Interesting study with a good approach, accompanied by supporting statistical details. Not to mention the importance of the topic covered by the study.

Adequate work methods were followed to achieve the goal, which strengthened the solidity of the results reached.