

Review of: "Urban Agroecosystems in Dynamic Yamuna River Sandbars in Delhi, Capital City of India"

Dinesh Chandra Joshi

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Second review

Urban Agroecosystems in Dynamic Yamuna River Sandbars in Delhi, Capital City of India

The paper has been revised as per my observations during the first review. Now the description is clear. The second paragraph in the introduction is a repetition of the first paragraph and may be deleted. The author has nicely described the land tenure system, economic benefits to the migrant farming community, and those related to the grazing of livestock, fishermen, and poultry-rearing people.

I recommend the paper for publication.