

Review of: "Assessment of Learner Satisfaction in Secondary School Education"

Teresa Ogina

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

In the abstract, there is no finding reported on the second objective.

The research approach should be quantitative /design.

In the conceptual framework there is need to explain the key concepts and how they relate to each other.

The problem that motivated the need for this study should be included as well as detailed literature review on the topic.

What is the gap in literature and practice that makes this study significant?

The discussion of findings and recommendations is too brief. Perhaps the authors may refer to the objectives of the study to ensure that all aspects of the study are comprehensively attended to.

In the discussion of findings what stands out in this article? This should be highlighted.

This article needs to be revised before it can be published.