

Review of: "Relationship between In Vitro Physical Properties and In Situ Biofilm Formation of Fissure Sealants"

Dr. Naila Zubair¹

¹ Women University Mardan

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Authors reported their work in a well-organized manner. They presented a detailed introduction and updated literature and described experimental results in an understandable way. The overall article shows that the author has a good command of the subject.

However, it is added that the references list should be revised as not all references are in the same style. After incorporation of the above suggestions, I recommend the article for acceptance.