

Review of: "Factors Associated with Contraceptive Use Among Migrant Female Head Porters in the Kumasi Metropolis"

Leonard Atuhaire

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

I recommend publication of this article after minor corrections to the sentences reproduced below.

(i) These female migrants are popularly referred to as Kayayei in local Ghanaian parlance are engaged in the business of head load carrying (porterage) to earn a living

(ii) The majority of the respondents rated themselves as good (51.5%), fair (27.5%) and very good (21%).

(ii) The data revealed that respondents who did not have multiple sexual partners were 0.450 less likely to use contraceptives as compared to respondents who had multiple sexual partners (OR =0.450; CI=0.060-3.377; P=0.007).