I have the following comments about this paper:

1. The issues, problem and objectives are clearly discussed and explained. The literature review is extensively covered. It is also relevant to the issues addressed in the study. Research design is suitable and appropriate to meet or address the specified research issues in the study. Use or choice of method is well defined and justified. The author's new idea is claimed, sufficient methodological details and looks feasible.
2. I would like to suggest that this article is accepted for publication with a minor correction whichever are necessary.
