Overall, the paper seems good. However, some following comments are recommended.

1- State your future work in the Abstract section.

2- For the Related Works section, it is recommended to include a comparison Table with previous works consisting of the following columns: used methodology, used database, results, and drawback. This table should include at least 20 previous works related to this point. It should find the limitations or gaps in the literature.

3-Need to add limitations from your research in the new section / subsection.

4-It is necessary to include a link to the source of the data/ tool used.
