

Review of: "[Review Article] Excessive Aluminum in Soil"

Teresa Rosa Galise¹

¹ University of Naples Federico II

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Review of: Excessive Aluminum in Soil

The scientific work appears to suffer from oversimplification, inconsistency, and a lack of thorough analysis to support its intended objective. This deficiency undermines the credibility and depth of the research findings, indicating a need for further refinement and rigorous examination. Addressing these shortcomings is essential to ensure the robustness and validity of the study's conclusions.