The topic is current and worthy of investigation. Comments: (1) Objective 2 is not anchored in the data. It is just the expected concluding section of a journal paper. (2) Method - descriptive survey research design is mentioned, but it is not accurate. To me, it is a descriptive research design. (3) SFL is mentioned, but the analysis of the results does not use this. SFL description also does not go down to the operational level to guide the analysis. (4) The results are not analysed at an analytical level, which creates a disjoint between the results and the conclusions and implications drawn. If these shortfalls are addressed, the paper will be better.
