

Review of: "Expectation of Life at Birth by Sex and Area of Residence in India and Bigger States/UT's (2013-2017): A Review"

R. G. Viveki

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

1. Introduction need to be more explanatory about the life expectancy and its associated issues
2. The methodology is not methodical, data analysis needs more scientific one by applying appropriate statistical tests.
3. The table presented is not clear and needs re presentation in different form for more effective understanding.
4. Now its 2023, the recent data will add value to it. Good data but poor presentation
5. need to be numbered and written in standard style
6. The text doesn't have any cited references, and no specific data collected to support the comments, it appears to be personal views of the author without any supporting evidence.
7. Author need to learn about scientific writing style of any article for publication