The article has an interesting topic, which is to measure the impact of indirect taxes on economic growth. However, here are some points that should receive attention:

1. The introduction needs to be rewritten. Focus on your topic and use the introduction to convey your message.
2. The analysis results need more explanation to justify your findings.
3. The implication results should be elaborated in the article.

Overall, I like the topic, and the article should have more work on it. Keep it up!
