

Review of: "The Catholic School: Holistic?"

Rizzamila Superio¹

¹ Northern Iloilo State University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

I appreciate the chance to examine this paper. Here are some ideas I have about how to make this paper even better.

1. Title: This research, in its entirety, aims to highlight the Catholic School's all-encompassing role in society in general, and in education in particular. It is therefore recommended to make the title better by conveying the substance or the main points of the research study. You may wish to revise the title in such a way that it captures the very essence of this study, such as "The Holistic Role of the Catholic School in Education" or "The Holistic Role of the Catholic School using Lonergan's Theory of Knowledge,"; or a title that you think about that will express the research study.
2. Abstract: Readers can easily understand the topic of your work by reading the abstract, which succinctly summarizes the objectives and findings of your research. You may wish to include clearly the definition of the problem, assumptions, objectives of the study, methodology, findings, conclusions in more or less 250 words.
3. Introduction: The introduction should catch the reader's interest by stating a short background of the study, the research problem, and the overview of the paper. You may wish to improve this part.
4. Conclusion: This part should include restating the research problem and its findings, conclusions, and recommendations. To make it more comprehensive, please include the implications of the research study.
5. With the above suggestions, I have no doubt that this research paper will be referenced by other researchers after its publication. God bless!