There is a relevant objective at the base of this research. However, I have some suggestions that may improve the value of this work:

The title could be shorter and more focused, using few words that explain your work. It could be replaced with: "Assessing Livelihood Vulnerability to Develop a Farmhouse Economic Model in the Coastal Area of Ben Tre".

The abstract does not provide information about the research methods and research objectives. It also needs more specific considerations about the main results. It could be improved to give more value to the work that has been done.

The introduction does not provide specific data or historical data that really explain the impact of climate change on the study area, such as graphs or tables about climatic parameters.

The method section needs to be completed with more descriptions about questionnaires, samples, and equations.

Results do not clearly explain the results or more specific research findings related to the impacts of climate change.
