I consider that the article is interesting, complete, and sufficient to be published. I only have some comments that I hope you will consider. The study area is missing, and I don't know if the red arrow that appears indicates anything else. In the placed images, it is recommended to enlarge the writing a little more or enlarge the figures more, as they are not visible. Consider being homogeneous when referring to contamination, pollution, or polluting matter. Verify that all bibliography is contained in the manuscript.

I think, in general, those would be just my comments.
