Thanks for your work. The subject is important to the scientific community. I have noticed some points to better perform this paper:

1 - This work seems a little lacking in format. I kindly suggest verifying it.

2 - It appears that the authors did not finish the paper or it is not just organized. Where is the equity index? An index is a set of metrics or indicators. There are no indices in plural unless you have more than one set of indicators. Please check this.

3 - It is important to describe the formulations used in the creation of this index. I understand that this paper is an elaboration of a method, but I cannot reproduce this method just by reading this paper. Some more information is needed.
