Review of: "Chronic disease treatment default prediction with random sampling optimization."

Hayder Mohammed Qasim

1- It would be wonderful if the shortcomings and gaps in the literature were clarified, particularly with regard to how the proposed strategy intends to fill up the gaps in the literature.

2- The authors are responsible for providing a detailed explanation of the contribution. What exactly is the new aspect of the manuscript? What exactly is the point of this?

3- There should be part a part that explains the strengths and limitations of related studies, especially the recent trend and gaps that this manuscript aims to address.

4- Equations should be better defined including their necessity and relationship.

5- The authors ought to make a concerted effort to provide a more detailed description of their methodology and approach.
