Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This article talks about a very important and timely subject – the risks of malnutrition on women and adolescent girls. It also explains in a clear and persuasive way the detrimental effect on the economy.

Here are a few areas that require attention to improve this article-

- References need to be cited in the text
- Apart from including more references, the writers should openly recognize the constraints or drawbacks of the research.
- Add the current nutrition policy environment in Rwanda.
- The writer might consider investigating and contrasting the nutritional circumstances of adolescents and women in other areas of Africa.
- Need clarification on whether it is a study or a Policy dialogue.
