Dear authors,

While the study is interesting and introduces a vital problem of lack of an interdisciplinary approach in Asia, the introduction does need some improvement. The rationale is not clear. The impact of such collaborations is not introduced. And the objective does not seem measurable.

In methods, the study area presents a very wordy description; please summarize and keep to the point. What were the inclusion and exclusion criteria? What was the sample size?

The results section is well presented.

I think some of the information that is in the discussion would be better in the introduction, for example, para 2.

The impact of the study is missing from both the conclusion and the introduction.

Best of luck for your revision. I look forward to receiving it soon.
