

Peer Review

Review of: "Sociodemographic, Clinical, and Psychological Barriers to Medication Compliance: The Case of Patients with Musculoskeletal Disorders in Greece"

Isabel Fernandes¹

1. Instituto Politécnico da Guarda, Portugal

The authors corrected some aspects identified, namely:

the context still needs to be developed;

Corrected the acronyms, spelling them out;

They still don't include keywords, which I consider essential;

They operationalize assessment instruments, which facilitates their understanding;

They do not include other authors in the discussion and also do not identify this limitation in the conclusion, which does not seem correct to me.

Overall, it's better, but it could be even better.

Declarations

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.