

Review of: "Biliary Complications Following Liver Transplantation: The First Single-Center Tunisian Experience"

Heithem Jeddou¹

¹ Centre Hospitalier Universitaire de Rennes

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Christophe Chardot has covered all the points. I would like to add by mentioning that the article lacks information regarding graft quality (expanded criteria donors?). It's worth noting that while donors after circulatory death (DCD) are not harvested in Tunisia, it's essential to clarify that the grafts are obtained from donors after brain death (DBD), with the exception of those from living donors.