

Review of: "Beyond Boundaries: Exploring Livability in Diverse CPTED-Enhanced Neighbourhoods of Bengaluru"

Hribhu Chowdhury

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper presents an in-depth analysis of the influence of Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design (CPTED) on urban livability in two neighborhoods in Bengaluru. However, the abstract could be clearer in presenting the key objectives, methodology, and findings. Currently, it's somewhat verbose and could benefit from a more concise summary of the research. The introduction could be more focused, clearly outlining the urbanization challenges and introducing CPTED in a concise manner. The research objectives could be explicitly stated in a bullet-point format to enhance clarity and guide readers through the paper. The implications and future directions section could be structured with bullet points or subheadings to facilitate easy comprehension of the outcomes and the next steps suggested by the research. The conclusion could summarize the study's contributions and emphasize the implications for urban planning in a more structured way. By incorporating these improvements, the paper would enhance its clarity, focus, and conciseness, making it more accessible and engaging for readers.