

Review of: "Evaluating Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design (CPTED) Principles in Educational Institutions: Occupant Insights"

Parama Mitra

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The topic is relevant and literature review is good. However the sampling method and the questionnaire design is unclear.

Although originality is there in the study, the method used in data processing and analysis is not scientific.

If the data can be analyzed properly and the sample size, type and techniques are justified then this can qualify as a good study.