This manuscript offers valuable information on disease transmission in healthcare environments. It addresses specific settings and solutions.

Abstract:

1. The phrases/statements such as "this study focuses," "investigation," "the examination" are misleading. Upon further reading, it becomes apparent that this article aligns more with a review than with the initially suggested focus. Hence, it is suggested to avoid such phrases.

Main article:

1. Suggested to add the method: For the exploration of the factors and to summarise the studies included for the review in a table
2. The factors and mitigation strategies can be tabulated as well.
3. It is recommended to incorporate an explanation of the significance, such as addressing few evidences of outbreaks among healthcare workers. Including this information will add substantial weight to the manuscript.
4. Suggest to avoid such a statement as it resembles more of a guideline and does not align with the nature of a review: "For this, you should properly use gloves, face masks, protective eyewear, and protective clothing".

General comments:

1. Please do provide the expanded form of the abbreviations when initially used, for instance, MRSA.
2. This article requires language editing.

This manuscript requires revision.
